Corporate Program

The Corporate Member Experience

CFR's Corporate Program provides a unique forum where business leaders can interact with distinguished thinkers and practitioners in government, policy, academia, and the private sector through exclusive events and engagement with CFR experts. With the guidance of Blair W. Effron, cofounder of Centerview Partners, vice chair of CFR's Board of Directors, and chair of the Committee on Corporate Affairs, the Corporate Program offers a range of benefits for executives and young professionals throughout your organization.

Enhance Global Outlook and Professional Ties

- Attend not-for-attribution sessions that allow candid, substantive discussions
- Receive invitations to hundreds of members-only events each year—held virtually and in New York, Washington, DC, and other major cities across the United States and around the world—featuring speakers such as Prime Minister of Canada Justin Trudeau, President of the European Central Bank Christine Lagarde, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs Jake Sullivan, President of Global Affairs at Meta Nick Clegg, Executive Director of UN Women Sima Sami I. Bahous, Deputy U.S. Attorney General Lisa O. Monaco, President of the World Bank David Malpass, and U.S. Special Presidential Envoy for Climate John F. Kerry
- Connect with senior leaders from the public and private sectors

Access CFR's Intellectual Capital

- Attend exclusive briefings with CFR fellows, the topical and regional experts within CFR's David Rockefeller Studies Program
- Participate in roundtable discussions, advisory groups, and workshops
- Access policy analyses, rapid-response briefings, and publications

U.S. Senator Tammy Duckworth (D-IL)

Ukrainian Minister of Foreign Affairs Dmytro Kuleba

U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken

Corporate Events and Resources

Annual Corporate Conference

This yearly summit on issues at the intersection of business and foreign policy has recently featured Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Morgan Stanley James Gorman, Global Head of Government Affairs and Public Policy at Google Karan Bhatia, Catherine L. Mann of the Bank of England, and former Director of the Office of International Climate and Clean Energy at the U.S. Department of Energy Samantha Gross.

Meetings and Roundtables

Join Corporate Program roundtable discussions on topics of particular interest to business, such as cybersecurity, finance, geopolitical risk, and trade. Virtual meetings allow executives to participate in CFR programming regardless of their location. Executives from member companies are also invited to share their expertise and thought leadership as panelists and presiders at CFR meetings.

Special Events

Attend private receptions and invitation-only dinners with CFR experts, current and former government officials, business leaders, and noted academics.

Fellow Briefings

Engage with CFR fellows on specific topics or regions in briefings that can be held in person or virtually.

Professional Development Opportunities

Founders and President's Circle-level member companies can recognize promising management track executives as "Corporate Leaders," granting them access to activities in the exclusive Stephen M. Kellen Term Member Program for two years.

Young professionals also have the opportunity to participate in special briefings and select meetings.

Member Services Portal

View and register for upcoming meetings, manage your interest and expertise profile, and access premium Foreign Affairs content and the magazine's full archives at cfr.org/corporatelogin.
